Rabbi's Message

Dear Friends,

“The Shofar calls, ‘Awaken, o sleepers, from your slumber!’ ...Therefore, one must view himself throughout the year as if he is half-culpable and half-meritorious. If he does a mitzvah, it will tip the balance to vindication; if he commits one sin, it will bring him condemnation.” (Rambam Hilchot Teshuva 3:4).

Rambam is referring to the Gemara (Kiddushin 40b), which says that an individual must constantly view his or her merits and sins as exactly equal to each other, and expect the very next action he commits to be the one that makes the difference. However, how is Rambam connecting this concept to the message of the Shofar? Furthermore, why would someone with sins almost equivalent to his merits be given a good verdict?

Perhaps Rambam is alluding to the way in which we stand in judgment on Rosh Hashanah. Rosh Hashanah is the day on which the future of every being is determined. One's past deeds are considered not in terms of meting out reward and punishment, but rather as an indication of his or her potential for the future. If there is a reason to believe that one will lead a life of productivity and growth, he is granted a year of life to pursue these goals. If it appears that one is headed in a path toward self-destruction and further sin, he will not be granted the opportunity to continue along this path. (Netivot Shalom)

For this reason, we must heed the call of the Shofar to “arise from our slumber.” We must always be looking for ways to grow and improve ourselves. We are “half-meritorious” based on what we have accomplished so far, and “half-culpable” for what we have not yet accomplished. Any mitzvah that we do tips the scales of justice, for it indicates that indeed, we are on a path to self-improvement and further accomplishment. However, we must constantly keep in mind that the next mitzvah we do will be the true indicator that we remain committed to this path.

In addition to our growth as individuals, we all strive for the growth of our shul and of our community. We have much to be proud of. Our tefillot and classes are well attended, our programs are enjoyed by all, and our community spirit is alive and well. Let us be encouraged by our past accomplishments, and use them as impetus to always seek new ways to grow and improve.

On a personal note, we are grateful for the many wonderful relationships we have formed with you over this past year. We look forward to further developing those relationships and building many new ones.

May you and yours be inscribed for a good new year of life, peace, health and happiness.

Shanah Tovah!

From the President

Dear Members and Friends,

Many of you have confirmed my own feeling that what makes our shul so special is that we are more of a family than a faceless organization. As we approach the High Holiday season, I have been looking at the Torah readings for Rosh HaShana and am struck by the fact also here the concept of family is emphasized. Just as there, the family concept has benefits and responsibilities, our family at Kadimah also has benefits and responsibilities.

The benefits of our family are obvious: We have a place to pray regularly, a wonderful Rabbi from whom to seek spiritual guidance, and most important, a vibrant community in which we can share our ideas, hopes and aspirations. But what about the responsibilities?

Perhaps, these can be related to the words of Shimon HaTzadik in Pirkei Avot: The world stands on three pillars: On Torah, on Service, and on acts of kindness. We can employ these concepts to make our relationship to our shul even better:

- Torah: Please attend the many wonderful classes led by Rabbi Blumberg and others. They are most enlightening and educational.
- Service: Please participate in our daily minyanim as much as possible. If you do not already attend regularly, consider committing to attending one day a week, either in the morning or in the afternoon. The basic purpose of our shul is to hold daily minyanim, and we need the assistance of all of our members and friends to accomplish this important function.
- Acts of Kindness: Our family relies on your continual support in order to provide all of the important services we deliver. Please pay your membership dues and holiday seats as soon as possible and consider a generous contribution to our annual High Holiday Appeal. Please also consider offering your time to assist with one of the many activities happening in the shul. Please call or email me with your ideas and suggestions, and I will do my best to help implement them.

A healthy and good New Year to everybody!

Robert E. Fox

From the Board of Directors

We are a small congregation. There is some research correlating brain size and group size in various animal species that shows that the ideal size of human communities tend to be about 150 people.* That is about the size of our congregation. “Bands” are smaller and “tribal units” are larger. There are great advantages to a community of our size. People tend to look out for other members of their community and recognize each other as important. There are, however, responsibilities as well as benefits. In a community like ours, the involvement of each individual has an impact on the well-being of the whole group. Whether formal or not, whether we are aware of it or not, we each have a role in our shul and a task to perform. When we do our jobs well, the well-being of the community is improved. When we do not play our proper role, we all suffer.

In a larger shul members can coast a bit; we cannot. If you are invited to take on a committee assignment or help out on a project, please agree. If you have an idea where you might be needed please contact one of the officers or committee chairs.

Our fiscal health is also critically related to the participation of our members in making generous regular financial commitments to our shul. The board recognizes that fundraising is currently its highest priority (among other highest priorities). We can discuss this in our meetings and come up with plans but everything depends on the response of our community. Please respond generously during these important days.

Wishing our whole extended Kadimah-Toras Moshe Family a good sweet, healthy and prosperous New Year.

L'shana Tova

Upcoming events!!!

Save Sunday, September 17 for the Family Program's annual apple picking and picnic. Join us at Honey-Pot Hill Orchards* in Stow from 11 am to 2 pm. Most of the orchards are accessible to members of all sizes. There is a hayride to the farther orchards and both small trees and tall trees with ladders. The event is fun for all ages. Please bring your own pareve or dairy lunch (drinks will be provided) and meet at the picnic tables between the pumpkin patch and the animal enclosures. Pay for what you pick. If you need a ride or would like to offer one, please call Andrea Kamens (-----). Let Cheryl Sisel know you are coming (-----). This is a wonderful event for new or potential members; feel free to bring along family or friends.

*For directions, go to www.honeypothill.com, call Andrea Kamens, or wait for the upcoming flyer.

On Wednesday, October 11, KTM will hold its annual Open House to welcome new (and potential!) members to our community. A dairy buffet will be served in KTM's succah. Mincha (followed by Maariv) will be at 5:50 PM; Open House will follow. Please join us and bring your friends.

On Tuesday, November 28 at 12:00 PM, we will be having a midday Lunch & Learn program. Rabbi Blumberg will speak about, "It's Greek to Me – The Relevance of Chanukah in Modern Times". A light lunch will be served. The cost is $2.50 per person.

Around the Shul News about our Members and Friends

Mazel tov to Erez and Hadar Feige on the birth of their son; to Seth and Jen Gordon on the birth of their son; to Aviv and Adina Ben Ari on the birth of their daughter; to David and Miriam Epstein on the birth of their son; Rabbi and Mrs. Abraham Witty and family on the bar mitzvah of their son; Sid and Dorothy Krinsky on their fortieth wedding anniversary.

Corrections

Many thanks to Dan Simkovitz for cooking for the Family Program Picnic.

Kudos to Seth and Jen Gordon, who put in countless hours doing most of the work involved in creating and developing our new website.

In Memoriam: Robert Cohen by Sid Krimsky

Robert Cohen passed away last year, Iyar 14, 5765, May 23, 2005. He resided at the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center in Roslindale after moving away from the Brighton community.

Robert (aka Bob or Uncle Bob) served as President of Congregation Kadimah-Toras Moshe for fourteen years, from 1973 until 1987. At that time elections for president were held every year. Bob was re-elected 13 times. If any single word is descriptive of him, it would be “dignified.” He always came to services on Shabbos and Yom Tov impeccably dressed and presented a dignified image as President. His annual Yom Tov appeals for the shul were sincere and sprinkled with the “waves of inflation.” I never saw any inflationary waves but he loved to use the metaphor.

Bob Cohen graduated from BU about 1935 with an A.B. degree in fine arts. He played the violin and was offered a musical job in Texas but turned it down because it would have taken him too far away from his family and from the family of his wife. I learned from him that the first violinist establishes the frequency standard (pitch) for the entire orchestra and he does this by ear. Every musician tunes his instrument according to the pitch of the first violinist. In his middle years, his hands became knurled with arthritis. He could no longer use the violin bow.

He worked in the dry cleaning business during the depression. He established a home in Roxbury with his wife Ida and two children, Harold and Sybil. He attended Toras Moshe in Roxbury, which was a small shul under the religious leadership of Rabbi Bernard Chayet. When Toras Moshe became non-viable during the 1960s, because of the population shift to the suburbs, Bob participated in merger discussions with Temple Kadimah from 1960-1962 and moved to Brighton after Rabbi Chayet died and Toras Moshe closed.

Bob Cohen’s overt loyalty to Rabbi Halbfinger and KTM was palpable. He supported Rabbi Halbfinger in every aspect of every decision. He was one of the main speakers at the tenth anniversary party for Rabbi and Sylvia Halbfinger in 1976 and again in 1988. Bob was honored several times at breakfasts and presented with various plaques. When the Iron Curtain opened during the Nixon administration, allowing many Jews from the Soviet Union to emigrate to America, Bob invited the new arrivals to learn English with a series of classes he taught upstairs for many years. During those times, one quarter of our daily minyan consisted of Russian immigrants. Many participated in our daily “hot lunch program” that was maintained by Bob, Rabbi Halbfinger, and Marvin Levenson. As president, Bob supervised the administrative office and protected the office workers from any outside interference so they could better perform their jobs. It is hard to imagine how the office workers performed their tasks without computers, web sites, and folding machines.

After his wife, Ida, developed Alzheimer’s disease, he cared for her at home as long as possible, until he had to release her to a nursing home. Bob accepted his responsibilities at home and at shul. After Ida died he developed a friendship with Dolly Bloom, whose husband, Morton, had passed away about a year earlier. Dolly Bloom was an accomplished piano player and composer of children’s music. Bob and Dolly shared a love for music and frequently attended concerts. Dolly was my son’s kindergarten teacher at Lubavitch Yeshiva and was a long-time member of KTM and the KTM Sisterhood.

The “Uncle Bob” column for the shul bulletin was his contribution, without interruption, for two decades. Everyone turned to his column first. Bob wrote about our members, their children and their accomplishments, family milestones, who completed Shabbos services for the first time, who graduated from school, who was getting married, etc. He had his pulse on the happenings of the congregation.

For 14 years, Bob was the “face of the shul” to the public. He represented us with dignity, decency, dedication, and diligence. During the 12 years in which I was fortunate to follow him as President, I learned from his demeanor, his dedication, and his instinctive understanding of the larger role of the shul president in the growth and development of our community. May his memory be blessed.

Sisterhood News by Cheryl Sisel

The KTM Sisterhood Board of Directors held a very productive planning meeting during the Nine Days. We are looking forward to an interesting and exciting year!

Many thanks are due to our members for their contributions to the success of last year's programs: Sara Salzberg, et al. for Shabbat Chessed meals; Dorothy Krinsky and Dvora Baronofsky for their work on membership; Ann Geller, Eileen Houben, and Lillian Stern for the Simchat Torah refreshments; Judy Katz and Dean Solomon for their generous donation to our "special" Yom Tov children's kiddush.

Special thanks to Sara Salzberg for chairing New Year's Greeting Books past and present. This is a very important fundraiser for the shul sisterhood. Thank you to all who participate.

Sisterhood cards are another important fundraiser and can be sent for any occasion. Call Lillian Stern (-----)

Please respond to the membership letter. We need your input. We need your donations to keep Sisterhood continuing to help OUR SHUL.

Let us all pray for peace in Israel and pray for the soldiers, whose courage is unrelenting. May we go from strength to strength.

Shanah Tovah to you and your families.

Join us!

The Sisterhood of Kadimah Toras-Moshe welcomes new and old members. If you haven't been a Sisterhood member in recent years, please join us again. The Sisterhood is an important component of our synagogue's fundraising activities, as well as a place for educational and fun events and activities. Years of successful fundraising have allowed us to purchase and maintain many useful and necessary items for the shul including:

- Bookcases and a bookcart to hold and transport Siddurim
- new coatroom
- folding partition screens
- shtender (lectern) in back of the women's section.
- kitchen equipment

Our fundraising and social programs include:

- Purim bags and cards
- All-occasion cards
- Tealess Tea Party-just write a check and drop it in the mail! Enjoy your tea at home, without braving the cold winter weather.

Our Chanukah party attracts a large group of women who look forward to the yearly auction and the warm camaraderie. Our Pre-Pesach meeting begins with a talk from the rabbi, followed by a question and answer session on the Laws of Pesach.

Our Chesed Committee provides a Shabbat meal for member families sitting Shiva (G-d forbid) or welcoming a new baby.

Please send in checks payable to Sisterhood Kadimah Toras-Moshe to: Sue Miller -----. Please include your name and Phone number, and specify one of these categories:

- Annual Membership $18 Life Membership* $180
- Optional rededication fee for Life Members $10

* Please note that the names of Sisterhood life members are listed on a plaque in the entrance hallway.

Children's and Family Programs by Cheryl Sisel

The summer groups went very well. Thank you to all the leaders and families who pitched in to make it a success. The children/families group is currently planning for the year 5767 IY"H. We will be having groups during all the Yom Tovim. If you have any questions or suggestions please call Cheryl --- or Andrea ----.

Yom Tov Specialties

Baked Gefilte Fish

- *Start with Unger's, or another brand of frozen gefilte fish loaf.
- *Take off the outer and the inner wrapper. (Defrost a little so you can take the wrappers off.)
- *Put in a small meatloaf or other pan with 1/4 " of water on the bottom of the pan.
- *Sprinkle top w/ paprika and Mrs. Dash or other seasoning.
- *Bake 350 degrees, uncovered, for 1 1/2 hours.
- *Add more water, so it won't burn.

Pudding Pie

Graham cracker crust
1 pkg. non-instant chocolate pudding
1 pkg. non-instant vanilla pudding
2 cups parve creamer
1-1 1/2 pkg. of graham crackers
8 oz. parve whip for topping
chocolate syrup, sprinkles, choc. chips, etc., for decorations

Combine chocolate pudding mix and creamer in a pot. Boil until thickened, but still pourable. Pour into crust.
Cover the pudding with graham crackers to fit the surface area
Combine vanilla pudding mix and creamer, Boil until thickened, then pour over graham cracker layer. Let cool.
Beat whip and spread on top.
Decorate as desired (chocolate syrup, sprinkles, choc. chips, etc)
Freeze until hardened.
Thaw approximately thirty minutes before serving.

We thank all who have donated to KTM in honor of various occasions. Your generous support allows KTM to continue to function as a vital institution in our community.

Classes Offered by KTM

Talmud-Mas. Beitzah	Sunday	7:30 AM	Rabbi Azriel Blumberg
Talmud-Mas. Avodah Zara	Monday	7:30 PM	Rabbi Finkelman at his home
Intermediate Hebrew/ Hashkafah	Wednesday	7:00 PM	Ann Geller
Foundations of Halacha	Wednesday	8:30 PM	Rabbi Azriel Blumberg
Parshat Hashavua	Shabbat	one hour before Mincha	Rabbi Azriel Blumberg

“Foundations of Halacha” begins a new series on Wednesday, September 6, entitled “When Health is an Issue.” It will deal with the allowances made in Halacha for health considerations and Pikuach Nefesh. Among the topics discussed: “How Sick is Sick?” “Shabbat”, “Kashrut” and “Fast Days”. The new Hebrew/English source sheets can be downloaded from www.kadimahtorasmoshe.org.

The Hebrew/ Hashkafah (Jewish concepts) class will resume on Sept. 6th. Beginning with the Book of Jonah, this year we will be studying non-Parsha related haftarot. In addition to reading and working through these haftarot, we will discuss the significance of the special Shabbatot (e.g. Shabbat Zachor) and Chagim to which each belongs. Through reading these texts, this class focuses on improving Hebrew skills and understanding the texts and the lessons they convey.
All are welcome.
